Degrowing Our Way to Genuine Progress

While it's one thing to create alternative measures to track societal progress instead of economic growth, achieving that progress will require ending growth altogether.

America's Next Top Farmer

Worldwatch's entrée
into reality television

What???

- A reality TV show following six recent graduates as they convert their parents' lawns (or neighborhood land) into a small farm.

Why?

- Good way to transmit sustainability information, especially to a younger demographic
- Way to normalize the shift to the informal agrarian future that the ecological transition will bring about (one way or another)
- Way to rebuild households that are multi-generational, multi-revenue-stream, and more resilient.
